

Redefinition Strategies: How Can Schools Respond to, and be a Part of Redefinition?

Sponsor:
AIA EDUCATORS AND PRACTITIONERS NETWORK PIA

Moderator:
RICHARD HOBBS
Vice President, Professional Practice, AIA

Panelists:
GORDON CHONG
Chair, AIA Redefinition Task Force
MARVIN MALECHA
North Carolina State University
KENNETH SCHWARTZ
University of Virginia
JERRY V. FINROW
University of Washington

The AIA/ACSA Redefinition Roundtable met for the first time in October 1999 to begin an ongoing discussion of the AIA's Redefinition Initiative. The objective of this initial roundtable meeting was to establish strategies for integrating the principles of Redefinition into curriculum and in doing so, further opening dialog between practice and education through a more integrated approach to communication.

The Roundtable divided our work into six strategy areas and our discussion would be led by members of the Roundtable.

Three goals for this Special Focus Session are to:

- expose ACSA members to the Redefinition Initiative;
- provide ACSA members with the strategies the Roundtable has developed along with implementation suggestions;
- solicit support, interest, and feedback from ACSA members on this Initiative.